LETTER FROM THE FOUNDER & CHIEF EXECUTIVE

I start this letter to the investment and larger community with a quote from a recent article in Forbes. This quote truly captures the promise of the new world we are creating through innovation:

Apple's iPhone is Now Worth More Than All of Microsoft

This is an entirely stunning statistic: Apple's iPhone sales are now worth more than all of Microsoft:

"One Apple product, something that didn't exist five years ago, has higher sales than everything Microsoft has to offer. More than Windows, Office, Xbox, Bing, Windows Phone, and every other product that Microsoft has created since 1975. In the quarter ended March 31, 2012, iPhone had sales of $22.7 billion Microsoft Corporation, $17.4 billion."

Tim Worstall, Contributor,
Forbes, Tech 8/19/2012

Our innovations have solved some of the greatest technical problems of the modern world. Many of our product lines create entirely new ecosystems, much like Apple has created with their iPhone. Our focus includes more than just technology and products; stellar execution plays a critical role, with attention to every detail.

Our forward looking products & services span a range of important technology markets, including:

Secure Mobile Payments; Mobile Banking Security;
eCommerce Security; Critical Infrastructure Security;
Bank Security; Mobile Advertising; Social Engines;
Vehicle Safety Technologies; New Wearable Devices;
and JaPhone<sup>TM</sup>, the next generation of smartphone.

Smartphones have introduced a rapidly growing marketplace of mobile products & services unimaginable less than a decade ago, which now are changing the ways we live and work in multiple ways; a substantial number of our product line innovations were developed as new smartphone ecosystems.

Our diabetes product lines are positioned to address the massive global diabetes industry, and would immediately impact and dominate this market. Collectively, our products & services will touch and enrich the lives of everyone around the world.

We are driven by a singular focus on strategic growth and revenue that prioritizes our efforts and endeavors. To manage and execute operations effectively on such a large range of products & services, we have developed proprietary Innovative Matrix Management Systems.

IPG employs three distinct, and at times, concurrent revenue models: (i) building new ecosystems that support our product lines, (ii) building successful enterprises and then spinning them off, and (iii) outright licensing.

IPG plans to file for a major international Initial Public Offering (IPO), to introduce dozens of leading edge proprietary products, services and solutions, across multiple global technology markets.

Steve Jobs was a hero to many, and mine as well; few people have single-handedly changed the world. We walk in his path and invite you to join us, as we build an enterprise without peer, shaping the future promise of global technology markets.

Truly,

Tara Chand Esq. BSEE (IITD), MSSE, CISSP
Founder, Chairman and Chief Executive
